

I'm Givin You Room

words & music by Elwood McElveen, Jr.

We fooled each other,
Thinking we had it all.
Down inside we knew,
Something was wrong.

We told each other,
That we were satisfied,
But you were still looking,
No matter how hard you tried.

*I'm givin you room,
Givin you room to grow,
May be wrong,
May be right,
At least we'll know,
After you've had room to grow.*

Someday things,
Might turn out right,
But the best way to see,
Is through hind sight.

If we are together,
At some future time,
It will be,
When we have a clear mind.

CHORUS

*BRIDGE: Right now I'm the guilty one,
But you will understand what I've done.
And someday you will know,
You needed room to grow.*

CHORUS

©1993 BY ELWOOD MCELVEEN, JR.