

Just Another Day

words & music by Elwood McElveen, Jr.

*Just another hour, Lord,
Just another day,
To tell one more person,
Show them the way.
You've given me the chance,
And I must not delay,
Just another hour, Lord,
Just another day.*

Well I went my own and selfish way,
Not listening to the truth.
Wishing for another day,
I wasted away my youth.

The clock was runnin' but I didn't know,
Listenin' to too many others.
And when it comes my turn to go,
I'll be askin' for another.

CHORUS

BRIDGE

I've wasted all this time,
Just lookin' out for me.
God it's such a crime,
Why does it take so long to see.

©1994 by Elwood McElveen, Jr.

written 10/23/85 11:00 PM after thinking about what McCartney might write after becoming a book: 6:3