

No Golden Gate

words & music by elwood i was short on time out in San Fran but i just had to see the big, big span i took a wrong turn and i got lost how could i foresee the eventual cost by time time i knew where i was not it was way too late i missed my shot i may never get the chance to go back but until then i've got my own facts there ain't no golden gate stretchin over the bay i don't care what they have seen i don't care what they say

*there ain't no golden gate you'll never make me believe and what right have you got to disagree
there ain't no golden gate*

well i was way down there in san antone i just had to see the alamo where they were so brave and fought so hard but they never saw their just reward i bet there were those that were stuck inside who thought the enemy was just a lie when they scaled the walls and crashed the gate you can almost hear them say there ain't no enemy out beyond the walls and i won't believe it until the mission falls well i don't believe in God theres just no way theres not enough evidence i don't care what you say like there ain't no golden gate

©2008 by Elwood McElveen, Jr.